Inmate labor saves more than $10,800 in January

In January, inmate work squads from the Alachua County Jail worked on a variety of projects that saved county taxpayers more than $10,800. Last month, the squads:

- Moved furniture from the old Alachua General Hospital to the Florida Sheriffs' Youth Ranch.
- Painted walls, power washed and removed debris at the Alachua County Sheriff's Office.

In January, the squads performed 830 hours of labor for a savings of $10,864.70. Last year, the squads performed 5,994 hours of labor for a savings of $78,461.46.

In 2008, the squads performed 6,378 hours of work for a savings of $83,488.02, according to the Florida Agency for Workforce Innovation (AWI). From October through December 2007, a total of 677.5 hours of inmate labor were reported for a savings of $8,868.48. Since the squads were initiated in October 2007, they have created a total combined savings to taxpayers of $174,299.90.

AWI determines the value of work by multiplying the hourly wage value of $13.09 by the total number of hours worked. The hourly wage value is based on a base rate of pay. They do not include holiday pay, overtime pay and shift differential pay, vacation pay or any other benefits such as health insurance benefits, profit sharing, stock bonuses, tuition repayments, or meal payments. The base hourly wage is determined from the Florida Occupational Wages 2007 Edition prepared by AWI.
